

Be Curious

committing to be a part of the process of discovery, not a master over it responsible for “fixing” it.

Trust God: committing to allow him to be helper. He knows; you don't. He's in control

Trust others: committing to believe others can contribute and their contribution is valuable

Trust silence: committing to give people space to think.

Trust the moment: committing to release the need to focus on knowing what's next and be in the moment, listening curiously and speaking from the moment, instead.

Be at Rest

committing to entrust yourself and others to God; He is at work. It's his job.

Be Respectful

committing to see others as God sees them, resisting the temptation of judgement and keeping confidential any personal information shared.